SUMMARY

I recently defended my Ph.D. thesis at Yale University entitled “Text Summarization Across High and Low-resource Settings.” My work focuses on Natural Language Processing, particularly text summarization subproblems such as multi-document summarization, summarization evaluation, and low-resource summarization.

EDUCATION

Yale University

New Haven, U.S.

- Ph.D. in Computer Science August 2017 - May 2021
  - Advisor: Dragomir Radev
  - Relevant Coursework: Artificial Intelligence, Object Oriented Programming, Databases, Natural Language Processing, Deep Learning Theory and Applications, Advanced Natural Language Processing, Optimization Techniques, Topics in Theoretical Machine Learning

Columbia University

New York, U.S.

- B.A. in Data Science August 2013 - May 2017
  - GPA: 3.79
  - Awards: Dean’s list every semester
  - Relevant Coursework: Analysis of Algorithms, Data Mining, Statistical Inference, Machine Learning, Linear Regression Models, Neural Networks and Deep Learning, Advanced Programming, Applied Data Mining

Columbia Reid Hall in Paris, Paris VII Denis Diderot

Paris, France

- Study Abroad Program January 2016 - May 2016
  - Completed coursework in computational linguistics, numerical methods, and French during semester abroad

Languages and Technologies

Programming Languages and Tools: Python, PyTorch, Tensorflow, UNIX, Git, Java, SQL

Natural Languages : French (TCF: Level C2); Polish (fluent)

EXPERIENCE      Researcher II* at Salesforce AI Research      July 2021 - Present

- Working under Jason Wu on projects related to summarization, including conversation summarization and factual consistency in summarization.

Ph.D. Student* at Yale University      August 2017 - May 2021

- Worked with Professor Dragomir Radev on projects related to summarization, text generation, prerequisite chain learning, and information retrieval to facilitate the education of scientific topics.
- Headed a collaboration between Yale and the Language and Translation Technologies Team (LATTE) at Facebook AI focused on conversational summarization and summarization crowdsourcing.
- Worked on the AAN (All About NLP) project which maintains the largest manually curated search engine of tutorials on Natural Language Processing.
- Worked on the IARPA-funded MATERIAL project on cross-lingual information retrieval. Worked on improving cutoff for the length of the retrieved ranked list.

Part-time Researcher* at Facebook AI      September 2020 - January 2021

- Worked on sentence-fusion in multi-document summarization to improve summary coherence and faithfulness.
- Mentored by Xiaojian Wu, Srini Iyer, and Mona Diab.

Research Intern* at Facebook AI      June 2020 - August 2020

- Worked on multi-perspective answer summarization of community question-answering forums, developing a novel dataset creation pipeline and models to ensure faithful multi-perspective answer summaries.
- Mentored by Xiaojian Wu, Srini Iyer, and Mona Diab.

Applied Scientist Intern* at Amazon AWS AI      May 2019 - August 2019

- Worked on unsupervised question generation from context-answer pairs to improve unsupervised question answering when faced with low-resource domains, building upon work on style transfer and unsupervised machine translation.
- Mentored by Patrick Ng, Zhiguo Wang, and Bing Xiang.

Undergraduate Research Assistant* at Center for Computational Learning Systems, Columbia University      May 2016 - May 2017

- Worked in the Natural Language Processing group on fine-grained sentiment analysis under the direct supervision of Dr. Owen Rambow as part of the team's TAC KBP BeSt Evaluation submission during summer 2016.
- Worked with Dr. Smaranda Muresan and then Ph.D. student Dr. Debanjan Ghosh on deep learning methods for irony and the effects of conversational context, resulting in our SIGdial conference publication, which won the best paper award.

Undergraduate Research Assistant* at Columbia Reid Hall in Paris, Columbia University      Jan 2016 - May 2016

- Worked on sentiment analysis of Twitter with Dr. Kata Gabor through Reid Hall's Directed Research Program. Conducted weekly meetings and gave a final presentation (in French) and submitted a 30-page memoire (in English).
